DECOLONIZING THE PLACES, SPACES AND BOUNDARIES OF SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT AND
GLOBAL CITIZENSHIP EDUCATION: A CRITICAL
ANALYSIS OF SDG 4.7.

OVERVIEW

1. Coloniality
2. Research Question
3. Critical Analysis of SDG 4.7
4. Colonialism, property, spaces, places and boundaries
5. SDG 4.7 and Teacher Education

Coloniality

It is our contention that the majority of teachers have been socialized into a teacher ontology that is written through with colonialism. It is therefore essential to do the work of “decolonizing the mind”

(Thiong’o, 1986, cited in Pirbhai-Illich, Pete & Martin, 2017 p.246).

RESEARCH QUESTION

1. Education as a form of colonization
 - a) Binary, oppositional and hierarchical
 - b) Object(ive) driven
 - c) Universalism
 - d) Monologism

2. Education for sustainability
 - a) Preparation for unknown futures
 - b) Uncertainty and precaution
 - c) Importance of pluralism and multiple perspectives

How might the concepts of place, space and boundaries help in decolonizing responses to SDG 4.7?

A [BRIEF] CRITICAL ANALYSIS OF THE SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS (SDGS)

IDEOLOGY & DISCOURSES

Sustainable

Universal discourse: balance of societal, environmental, economic needs

Development

Modernist discourse: Developed, developing, led where developed = high mass consumption, post-war western world

Binarized, hierarchical construction: Othering discourse associated with liberal 'helping' ideology

Goals

Neoliberal ideology: Normative discourse of targets, standards, measurement. Whose norms prevail?
Whose norms are silenced?

SDG4.6.1 indicator: proportion of youth and adults with functional literacy and numeracy skills

... skills for improving their life, in particular for employment and entrepreneurship.

... or primary school in the year prior to official entry age for primary school. However, in the least developed countries, the ratio was only 4 in 10.

COLONIALISM & PROPERTY

“An Englishman’s home is his castle”
(Fox O’Mahony 2006)

The significance of property ownership as a prerequisite to citizenship was tied to the British notion that only people who owned the country, not merely those who lived in it, were eligible to make decisions about it. (Ladson-Billings, 2009, p. 25)

SPACES, PLACES AND BOUNDARIES: MACRO — MICRO

Space can be distinguished via a synthesis of the material (e.g. schools, classrooms, resources, desks), social and the symbolic (e.g. power)

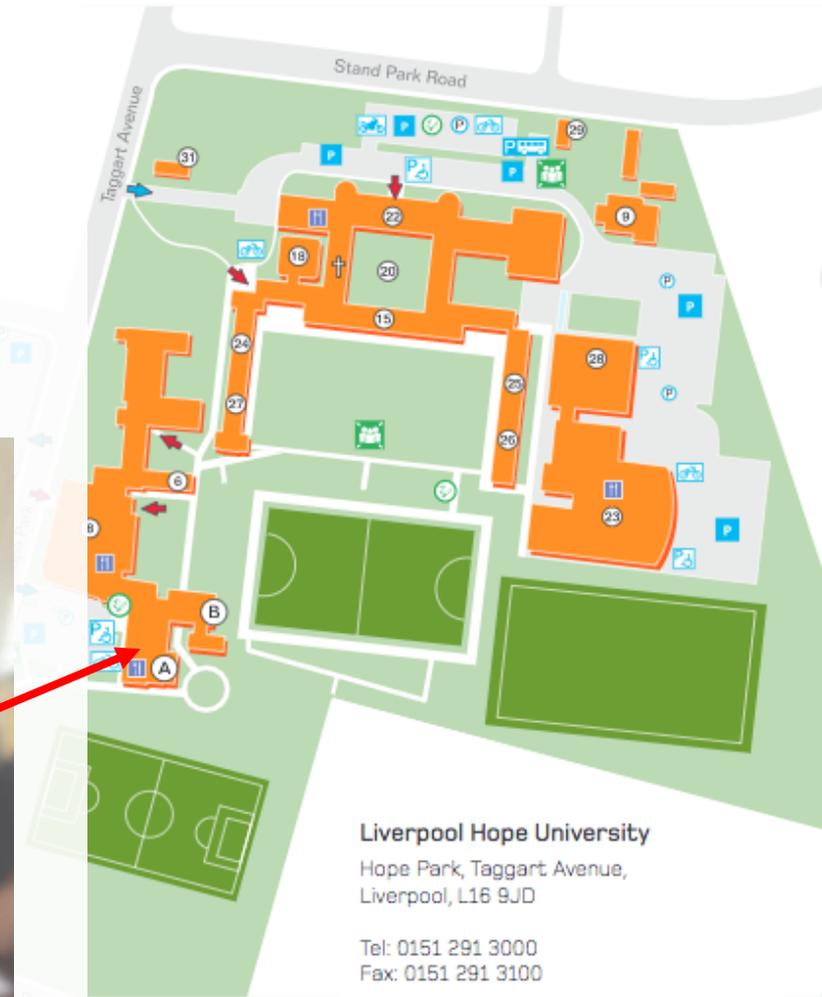

Place is a point and also a relational location

Boundaries are the relation between space and place

- Exclusive spatial constitutions (e.g. nation-states, schools, social clubs) are bounded by borders
